

THE VELL

A note from ZACH

We've had a busy couple months of programming in September and October, but things slow down a little bit in November and December. With Thanksgiving and Christmas/Winter Break in the mix, we hope you are able to have some time with family. Meredith and I are planning to head to Louisville to see her family this Thanksgiving (and run a 10k) and I'm excited for Silas to spend some time with extended relatives. I'm more and more aware of how little I appreciated that time when I was younger, partly because we didn't have a lot of family traditions around the holidays. What are some traditions you value? Or what are some traditions you might create this year that are fun and/or meaningful?
